Apple is like THAT hot girl.

She's pretty. She cooks. She's crazy in bed. You fall in love with her. You promise to be with her all your life. You feel lucky to have her.

In time though, things change. She changes. She starts showing her bad side. She becomes unreliable. Sure, she's still amazing but you start having second thoughts. You stay with her because you've invested so much effort already and because of the good times you've had.

Or let's take the iPhone. The iPhone used to dominate this space. Now, it is playing catch-up at best and it focuses more on looking good than being good. Yes, IOS is still amazing but those S and Notes and Pixels are not as bad as they once were.
