

What is the price of the car?

What about the reliability of the car? We know it is very unreliable

What about the future availability of the oil?

What if the car breaks down? How do you move it?

Which is better: a final product or a prototype?